

Centralised Procurement of Sanitation Items Vs. Local Level

Below is an analysis comparing the centralized purchasing system to the former approach used for acquiring sanitation and general stationery items for branches.

Benefits:

- Branches are receiving all items while ensuring compliance with branch hygiene standards.
- Uniformity is maintained across branches by providing consistent brands, pricing, and product quantities.
- Fake billing has been properly eliminated due to centralized payment processes.
- Tracking purchase orders and deliveries has become more streamlined.
- Branches are permitted to place their own orders, provided satisfied to conditions such as minimum order value (MOV), order frequency, allowed products, and specific locations.
- Additionally, we are not incurring any extra freight charges for deliveries across PAN India.
- Live dashboard and report status are available in the system.

Challenges:

- Some product charges from the workstore appear to be high, especially compared to lower-cost, non-branded products available in the local market and second the freight costs are included in the product price.
- Deliveries can be delayed occasionally, especially in some locations or when replacements for missing or damaged items are needed.

	Indicates loss to the company
	Indicates benefit to the company

- This is to highlight further that with the introduction of this model the company is in a better position to reduce the overall costing as it is not possible to evaluate the impact of the new model as some of the branches have not purchased the whole items in the previous quarter. But still item was comparison has been choked out for review.
